Our Ethos

In Nursery we have a child led play based approach to learning where children can engage in deep levels of involvement and long periods of uninterrupted active learning. The learning environment is set up and organised to provide authentic and engaging learning experiences to allow children to become independent, curious and capable learners. They are able to explore and develop their own interests supported by skilful, observant and enabling adults. We model a joyful approach to encourage and support childrens natural curiosities. All experiences are hands on, purposeful and meaningful to the child. We as the adults are able to respond to the individual needs of each child and allow them to develop at their own pace.

We understand that the Outdoors is vital to young children's development. Being outdoors supports their social, emotional, spiritual and physical development as well as their wellbeing. Our outdoor environment provides opportunities for children to explore, practice and enhance their skills, developing high levels of confidence and engagement.

A Day in Nursery

Time to explore

Each day in Nursery begins with exploring time where the children engage in self chosen play both indoors and outdoors. This is a time where children can pursue their own interests and time for adults to play, observe and move learning forward.

Time to eat

During the session there will be an opportunity for children to have a healthy snack. This is a social time for children to sit with an adult in a group and develop their independence and cooperation. Children will help prepare for snack by cleaning the table, cutting the fruit, pouring their own drink and also helping to tidy away. We also practice a lot of our Welsh during this time.

Time to get together

At the end of each session we have a time where we all come together to join in with songs, rhymes and stories. This is a time for children to develop their listening skills and participate in group activities.

Time to go home

When the busy session is over we all get ready either to go home to our grown ups or to go to wraparound care to have more fun!

How we learn in Nursery!

Here are some of the ways and some of the things we learn at Nursery!

Sand and Water

In this area children learn about capacity, shapes, filling and pouring

Mark Making

Activities such as drawing, chalking, painting with water, help children develop their fine and gross motor skills and learn about the act and purpose of writing.

Playdough

Great for developing gross motor skills – kneading, stretching, pulling, rolling. It also develops creativity

Creative Activities

...such as junk modelling, cutting and sticking, using clay, different painting techniques, building, dance, music

Role Play

Children get the opportunity to engage in domestic and imaginative role play, taking on a role and developing language and communication skills.

Movement & Physical Play

This is a key area of development in Nursery incorporating gross motor skills such as balancing, jumping, spinning, running etc. It is provided for throughout the Nursery environment.

Construction

A variety of small and large equipment such as Duplo, mobile, large loose parts, wooden blocks, tyres, crates, allow children to develop their mathematical concepts of shape and space

A Year in Nursery

In Nursery we aim to provide children with a sense of place and time. We follow the children's predictable needs and interests throughout the year. This helps the children develop a wider understanding of their world and the world around them.
